A theatre light

On show after 95 years

St Mary's Church

Relighting this church in 100% LED was constrained by strict heritage constraints. The bell tower had one light. We had to use existing powered locations; no screwing or nailing.

We lit the bell tower using hand made shoring poles using inter-floor compression and internal power cables. Every level required a custom lighting design.

We created Christian-inspired colour matched brackets to mount LEDs and used theatre lights for drama and sparkle.

For the first time in 95 years, the church exterior, lead light windows, herringbone ceiling and marble high altar are exquisitely lit.
